THE CHINA MAIL.

HONGKONG, THURSDAY, NOV. 13, 1879.

The Shanghai Courier attempts to get "a general notion which may be of some good" out of a comparison of the cost of the government of the Model Settlement with that of Hongkong. Now the simple fact that the one is a Crown Colony and the other a Municipality sweeps the whole sense and appropriateness out of what our contemporary says. Lord Palmerston said that more than one half of the erroneous conclusions to which men commit themselves or are reduced are due to false analogies. That the Courier's elaborate comparison of the cost of government in Hongkong with that of Shanghai leads to no conclusion of the slightest service or importance to either party, we shall show in a few words. The two places are not far dissimilar in point of population, and this, very wrongly as it seems to our mind, our contemporary makes the sole ground of his argument that the two may be financially compared with some advantage. He says:—"The total population of the Colony of Hongkong is roughly estimated at 150,000, but nearly one third of these are distributed among the villages and the boat population. The population of the City of Victoria is a little over 100,000; the British and foreigners numbering about 7,500. This, however, includes the naval and military establishments; the residents proper being returned at less than 3,000. The foreign population—resident and non-resident—of the English and American Settlements is estimated at 3,000, the native population being put at a little under 100,000. These figures, if not absolutely correct, are near enough for the purposes of the present comparison." Just so, but our contemporary seems to forget that one of the places named is much more than the other like a Chinese town in which the multitude police themselves, and the rogues, vagabonds and felons are not on the whole difficult to deal with.
In Hongkong we spent last year some $225,000 on Magistrates, police, and gaol, and next year a much larger sum is allowed; two thirds of the police amount, say $175,000, goes to the watching of the town during the night. How much does the Municipality of Shanghai pay for the policing of the town? And why does not the Courier allow one cent to our credit on this account? Here we have as compared with the Chinese town of Shanghai, governed, policed, cleaned by itself, a swarm of more than 100,000 Chinese, a very large proportion of them thieves, gamblers, prostitutes and those people of the lowest class who always frequent the haunts of such. A very large number of the most desperate criminals from the Kwantung Province make their abode here; the town is in daily receipt of new arrivals of the same description, whose watching, capture, trial and punishment cost us an infinite amount.
Has Shanghai anything like a similar story to tell? No. The quiet, easy, inexpensive position she holds in this matter is that naturally to be associated with an open port of China, while Hongkong is in a grave and peculiarly critical and costly predicament, partly due to her unhappy geographical placement, but more to the bad management of those into whose hands her government has been entrusted. And for all this not one-hundredth part of a dollar is allowed by the Courier to the credit of the Colony.

The administration of Justice over and above the items already mentioned costs us some $43,000, and as our contemporary says, the corresponding expenditure in Shanghai being borne by the several home Governments represented, does not become a local tax. The work which here entails our civil list of $126,000, establishments $780,000, and so on in all, or a great part of it, we are told, performed by the unpaid members of the municipality and a few clerks. Nothing is said as to the comparative cost of the public works of the Colony and those of the Municipality. All that is attempted to be proved is that the Government of Hongkong is a very different thing from the Municipal Council of the settlement Shanghai, a fact which we all knew at starting. Our contemporary no doubt knows that the tax-payers of Hongkong do not object to the cost of being well governed; it is only when the time and ability of those who draw her largest salaries are frittered away on objects which cannot but breed discontent and distrust amongst them that they complain. Nor do they have any reason to complain of the money spent on public works in the Colony. Rather the reverse. Most of those who have any policy at all, that is, who have taken an intelligent interest in local governmental matters, would rather, with Mr Kewick, be glad to see those "extensive sanitary improvements which are here required carried out, and to see that splendid balance which His Excellency congratulated himself on, and which it is satisfactory to know does exist, expended in such works, for assuredly far more than $20,000, our present yearly interest, would be gained by having the money judiciously spent in improving the Colony, bringing water, and providing other sanitary necessities." The residents would be willing to see a large sum spent in securing and preserving for them what Hippocrates gave as the cardinal hygienic formula—"Pure air, pure water and a pure soil." Here, as in every town of a similarly crowded nature, "the well are made ill and the sick are made worse for the simple lack of God's pure air and water." And in the same way no one will object to a wise expenditure of as much as is required to provide at least reasonably efficient and complete protection for life and property. In short, we say that even if, after deducting the military contribution of $20,000, the expenditure of Hongkong last year was still over $800,000, or say Tls. 600,000, and that of Shanghai for the same year only Tls. 244,715, or somewhat over one-third of the expenditure of Hongkong, these facts prove absolutely nothing, good or evil, for or against one place or the other. The Crown Colony's expenditure cannot, to serve any useful purpose or with any fairness, be compared with that of the Municipality.
If our contemporary's object was to show that the Municipality was not an expensive one and that the cry for economy was unreasonable so long as nothing was said to show where such economy was practicable without reducing efficiency, why not compare Shanghai with say Yokohama

These artists, we may mention in conclusion, announce to-night as their last night.

The Peking correspondent of the Shanghai Courier writes under date of November 4th:—"The German Legation has lost a promising young attaché in M. Grees, who died on Saturday from typhoid fever, and was buried yesterday morning. An imposing funeral procession, with Herr von Brandt as chief mourner, and representatives of the different Legations, left the German Legation shortly after 9 a.m. The fever, from which the deceased gentleman fell a victim, is happily of rare occurrence in these parts; but unless attention is paid to the nuisance of open drains and cess-pools in the public street outside the principal Legations, this virulent fever is likely to become more rife. The Netherlands and Italian Ministers return south for the winter, and the French representative has returned here from his shooting excursion in Mongolia. Premonitory signs of a fall of snow yesterday morning. Chung How has left Europe on his return to China, and it will be as much as he can do to reach this before the river closes."

This Ichang correspondent of the same paper announces the arrival by the Kiang-ping of another party of Hankowites to visit the wonders of the Upper Yangtze, among whom were General Sheppard, United States Consul, and two lady friends. He writes:—

Dr. Reid and Mr. Marsh returned on the 23rd instant from their trip up river; they did not reach Chungking. They report the wreck of Dr. Magowan's boat while crossing one of the rapids, and the loss of all his traps, &c. They took him on board their boat, he has not come back with them, but went on in their boat to Chungking, which place he expected to reach within five days from the 18th instant. Dr. Reid joined the General's party, and went with them up to the first rapids, where they separated; he and two of the party went on to Kwei-show Fu. The General and the rest of the party returned to Ichang, and left for Hankow this morning (Oct. 28th) per steamer Kiang-ping. I hear they are highly pleased with the trip.

Tax Hongkong Catholic Register of 12th inst., says:—

His Lordship Mgr. Raimondi left this for Manila in the steamer Diamond on the 8th inst., on some business, and will return before the feast of the Immaculate Conception, which is to be solemnized this year throughout the world with unusual pomp, this being the 25th year since the definition of the Dogma.

We hear that a telegram has been received by the Macao authorities to the effect that Governor Graça left Aden on the 1st instant. Mrs. Graça, who accompanies her husband, is not only a lady writer of renown in Portugal, but also a pretty Amazon. When the 5th Regt. of Infantry, of which her husband was commander, mutinied, she mounted her horse and soon met the soldiers on the road, in open revolt, and ready for any mischief, some of them even cocked their arms and were about shooting her. Nothing daunted, she gave the word "Halt!" which produced a marvellous effect. The soldiers, astonished at the extraordinary courage displayed by Mrs. Graça, listened to her long and impressive discourse, gave her three cheers, and quietly returned to barracks. Mrs. Graça rode to the King, who graciously pardoned the mutineers, and dined afterwards with some friends as if nothing remarkable had occurred a few moments before.

The Temperance Hall will be removed on the 1st proximo to Fletcher's buildings, Queen's Road East, a locality admirably suited to the convenience of the soldiers and men-of-war's men, who frequent that institution.

The Siamese Ambassador is Vandy Fair's 313th "Statesman," and is thus described:—"Siama is said to be progressing both in wealth and in civilization. Under the present young King, life and property are secure, trade is fostered, slavery has been abolished, all religions are tolerated, there exists no national debt, and a special Envoy has been sent to England. Phya Bhaskarawong, who has thus come to us from the land of the White Elephant, was born one and thirty years ago. The son of one of the Siamese King's household, and further instructed in Paris. He is the Chamberlain of the Siamese King's Household, a Member of the High Council of State, and the Commander of the Royal Body-guard. He is moreover a man of gentle manners and good presence, a fine Oriental scholar, and imbued with feelings of friendship for England and the English, which has caused him to be very popular with all of those who have known him in this country."

M. VERNE, the gentleman representing the Electric Light Company, who came from Calcutta in order to fit up the whole plant and machinery purchased by the King of Burma which was detained here, has we read in the Rangoon Gazette, been exhibiting the electric light at some of the rice mills in Puccondong. The first night the light was exhibited at Messrs. Strang, Steel and Co.'s mill, and the second night at that of Messrs. Bullock Brothers and Co. The Chief Commissioner, Col. H. Browne, and a number of ladies and gentlemen were present and had explained to them the processes of production. On both occasions the machine, which is called the Gramme machine, worked by belts connected with the machinery of the mills, produced a most brilliant light which lit up the interior of the mills and threw very little shadow. The cost of working it in a mill for a night would be 12 annas, or an anna per hour, requiring only a 1½ horse power engine worked with only 2 lbs. coal per hour. The mills use now in the slack season about 1½ tons of oil per night, and that the light after the first cost would show a considerable saving, especially in the busy season. The light once started requires no attendance. The burners are made of Jasper. We are only surprised that Rangoon should be behind Mandalay in securing such a means of lighting.

The El Comercio of Manila, of the 60th ult., has the following on the quarantine question:—

It is our duty to make echo to complaints which we consider just, the more so when they relate to certain practices not sanctioned by the law, and operating to the prejudice of the trade of the port and navigation. Let us bring forward what the superior decree of the 28th July of the present year provides about the course to be adopted with regard to vessels arriving from the ports of Haiphong, Pak-hoi and Hoihow. In the said superior disposition it is laid down that, once those China ports are declared infected, "the necessary precautions should be adopted to ascertain whether the vessels arrive from Hongkong or Shanghai have passengers or merchandise from any of the three ports above named. If not they may be immediately admitted to free pratique; and if in the affirmative, they will be subject to a quarantine of fifteen days, if they bring no sick on board, and in case there is any, or if during the term of quarantine any sickness should break out, the quarantine will be extended to twenty days, to count from the day the last one was so attacked." Well, we are told that in some of the provincial ports, vessels from Hongkong in ballast, and without any passengers at all, are also subject to quarantine. It is very desirable that the law should be strictly observed; when vessels bring passengers and cargo from the infected ports, the law should be inflexible, and, on the other hand, when they bring nothing, even from the port of departure, quarantine should not be imposed, as it will in a great measure mar the interests and cause disappointments in the trade by ships' despatches being behind time.

The Lancet remarks that Lord William Beresford, in addition to his distinction as a gallant and chivalrous soldier, will be distinguished in history as the owner of a horse which was poisoned by tea. The Veterinary Journal reports the "case," and characterises it as "unparalleled in the annals of veterinary or even human toxicology." A staff cook had left some pounds of tea in a sack, Kaffir groom filled it with corn, and serving out the contents to a troop of horses, gave Lord William Beresford's charger the bulk of the tea, which was eaten greedily and produced the most startling results. The animal plunged and kicked, and ran backwards, at intervals galloping madly around, finally falling into a ditches, where it lay dashing its head on the rocks, and was despatched by an assegai thrust through the heart. The post mortem appearances indicated extreme cerebral congestion. The occurrence as an accident is probably unique. The phenomena exhibited were, however, characteristic of the action of caffeine—namely, cerebral excitement, with partial loss of sensibility, convulsions, and death. The sensory nerves are paralysed without any corresponding paralysis of the motor nerves, so that the muscular action, which proceeds from ideation and volition, remains unaffected. The reversal of limb movements, which produces running backwards in quadrupeds, is a common symptom of brain disturbance, frequently witnessed, for example, in the case of puppies with unopened crania. The case is one of great interest, and may help to throw light on the action of tea, which has not been sufficiently studied, and must be still classed as unexplained.

OPENING MATCH OF THE HONGKONG YACHT CLUB.

This match was started this morning shortly after 10 o'clock in a light Easterly air, which unfortunately died away as the yachts ran down for the Western mark, and after rounding they were nearly, or quite, becalmed. Naomi was first round, but Wave passed her whilst at anchor at the Chung Hui mark, and picking up a light streak of wind from S.E. reached away for the winning flag-boat, and soon drew out a commanding lead, which she kept to the finish. Naïad and Ariel kept close together, the smaller boat sticking to her larger sister very closely. The first round was completed:—

Wave, 1h. 20m.
Naïad, 1h. 43m.
Naïad, 2h. 17m.
Ariel, 2h. 17m. 30secs.

Shortly after rounding the wind drew out from the S.W., and made it a beat for the Cow-e-how mark, but although Naïad shifted to a balloon gaff topsail, which did good service, Wave was not to be caught, and the little veteran gybed round the flag-boat for the home journey a good six minutes ahead. Naïad finding it a hopeless chase, hauled down her racing flag and gave up, but Ariel held on, and completed the course. Naïad did not gain much on Wave in the run home, the times taken at the finish being:—

Wave (winner of 1st prize) 3h. 40m. 20s.
Naïad (winner of 2nd prize) 3h. 45m. 5s.
Ariel, 4h. 25m.

It was unfortunate that the wind died away so completely, but we must hope for better things when the yachts next meet.

THE ARMY AND NAVY V. HONGKONG CLUB.

This match was played to-day, and resulted after an exciting finish in favour of the Club by 11 runs. The officers batted first; Moody and Walcott were their most successful representatives, Inglis' bowling being the most effective against them. For the Club, Matchett played a good free innings, and at a most critical period Cottell and Grigor pulled the match out of the fire. In the second innings of the officers Clarke hit well for 36, not out.

The following is part of the score:—

TIFFIN ON BOARD THE M. B. S. S. CO.'S STEAMER "NIGATA MARU."

Messrs Honda and Tripp, agents of the Mitsui Bishi Company at this port, entertained a large party of gentlemen at tiffin this afternoon, on board the Company's steamer the Nigata Maru, on the occasion of the inauguration of the new steam line between this port and Yokohama via Kobe. The list of those invited included over one hundred names, from amongst the leading official and mercantile residents of the Colony; but as there were many engagements to-day, some sixty or more guests availed themselves of the Company's hospitality. Amongst those present were:—H. E. the Governor, Hon. M. S. Tonnochy, Hon. P. Ryrie, Surgeon General Mackinnon, Colonels Gaddes, Hall, Sherwin, and Stuart, Mr. C. V. Creagh, A.D.C., Captain Douglas, R.N., Dr. Ayres, Dr. Eitel, Hon. G. B. Plunket, Captain Deane, Consul Mosby, Consul Ando, &c. A steam-launch took the guests on board the steamer, and H. E. the Governor arrived in the Government launch about one o'clock. The tiffin was a great success, nothing having been left undone by all concerned for the comfort and entertainment of the guests. Although the fine saloon of the steamer was entirely filled, there was no hitch in the arrangements, and a most pleasant afternoon was spent. A portion of the 27th Inniskillings Band were in attendance, and played a selection during tiffin. The steamer afterwards steamed to Agallur Point and back, arriving at her moorings about 5.45 p.m. On leaving the vessel reciprocal cheers were given by the Captain and officers and the guests, as the launch steamed away on her return trip to the Wharf.

After tiffin, Captain Walker (who presided) proposed the toast of "The Queen," which was responded to by all. H. E. the Governor proposed the next toast—"H. M. the Mikado of Japan." He said this was the first time the health of the Mikado had been proposed in Hongkong. Next to their own Sovereign, the Mikado was the most constitutional monarch in the world. He would add that, he believed him to be one of the most hospitable sovereigns in the world. For three months he had given him (the Governor) hospitality which certainly he had never received elsewhere. He coupled with this toast that of the Mikado's amiable wife, whose poetical talent adorned the ancient throne upon which they sat. The toast was drunk with enthusiasm.

Mr. Taro Ando, Consul here for Japan, responded in a few appropriate remarks. He said that, in the name of his Sovereign, he had the honour to thank His Excellency for having proposed the health of H. M. the Mikado, and the gentlemen present for having received the toast with such unanimous cordiality. To His Excellency's very kind and flattering address referring to the Emperor, he really hardly knew how to respond, yet as a representative of the nation to which the ship belonged he begged to thank His Excellency and all those present for the honour of their presence at the banquet given by the Agents of the Company, and he had great pleasure in meeting them on board this vessel, which, under one of the most trusted Captains of the M. B. fleet, had inaugurated the opening of this new line of steamer communication. Although this had been only the third passage since the enterprise had been inaugurated, yet they had the satisfaction to find that in these three voyages the Company had shown such good returns and freights as to give a fair prospect of the future success of the new undertaking, and to furnish great encouragement to all concerned. The circumstances led him to believe that by means of this regular communication the trade would assuredly be speedily augmented between this great commercial depot and a port in the neighbourhood of the commercial metropolis of Japan (Osaka). In this view, he had great confidence in the hearty expression of a hope for the mutual growth of trade between the two countries, and for the prosperity and happiness of the Colony upon which the trade entirely depended. After again thanking those present for the good wishes which had been expressed, Mr. Taro Ando proposed the health of the respective sovereigns and rulers of those present (applause).

Mr. Hillier, of the Mitsui Bishi Co., next proposed "The Army and Navy," which was responded to, on behalf of the Army, by Surgeon-General Mackinnon.

Capt. Douglas, R.N., replied on behalf of the Navy. He said that he had the greater pleasure in thanking them for the honour, in that he had himself taken part in the formation of the Japanese Navy (applause). Captain Walker having proposed the toast of "The Bar," Mr. Hayler, Q.C., replied. He said, in returning thanks on behalf of the small bar of this Colony, that he had great pleasure in responding to the unexpected honour. In the absence of the Attorney General, who he hoped would have been there, he was not prepared to make a speech such as one would expect from a member of a legal profession. He must say that the entertainment and kindness they had received showed how fast the world was marching. That we should have here in this harbour a noble vessel, fitted with every comfort which passenger or heart could desire, belonging to a power but the other day little known in the world, showed the wonderful force and progress of civilisation. We have here two great Companies—the Company representing the Empire of Japan, and the China Merchants' Company representing the Empire of China. The reproaches that these countries were behind-hand, must, he thought, now cease to be levelled against them. (Applause).

Mr. B. J. H. Tripp next proposed the toast of "The Merchants of Hongkong." He said that the toast of the Army and Navy had been drunk; but though the Army and Navy might be very brave and efficient, they required the aid of war, and that meant dollars (laughter). These were supplied by the merchants. The toast of the Bar had also been proposed; but were it not for the merchants, and their squabbles, the barrister would be wanting in fees. He was sure, therefore, the Bar would drink with enthusiasm the health of the merchants (a laugh). He concluded by wishing the merchants of Hongkong all success, coupled with the name of Mr Ryrie (applause). He hoped that they would be so prosperous that they would be able to ship cargoes to their own advantage, and so as to pay freights to the advantage of the Company.

Hon. P. Ryrie, in reply, thanked them for drinking to the toast, and remarked that they were all glad to see the establishment of the Mitsui Bishi Company here. Speaking of the general advantages of steam communication, he said that a new line created a trade for itself, and it had been proved to be so over and over again. He was sure that the abandonment of the line by the P. & O. Co. as a part of the contract, was a mistake; and that there would, in time, be room enough for all lines. He concluded by thanking Capt. Walker and the agents for the magnificent entertainment given them to-day, than which he had never not down to a better in this harbour.

Mr. Loureiro, Consul General for Portugal, then rose and proposed the health of "The Managers and Directors of the Company, and Success to the Company." He said that he had never made a public speech before, and that, though he had to speak in a foreign language (No, no), still as the first foreigner who had settled in Japan, and having been a resident for thirteen years in that country, he had great pleasure in proposing the toast. He would say this, that in no country in the world was there such hospitality as was met with in Japan. It was with great regret that he had left Japan, and there was no country to which he so much desired to return. He would with great pleasure return, and he looked forward some day to retire to Japan, and there spend the rest of his life. He wished all success to the Mitsui Bishi Company, and hoped that it would not only continue to prosper in Hongkong, but in the future would spread all over the world. (Three cheers were given for the Company, and one for Mr. Tripp).

Mr. Honda then said—Gentlemen, macotoni-ari garito (I am really obliged to you). (Applause).

Hon. P. Ryrie next proposed the health of "The Captain and Officers of the Nigata Maru." He complimented the Captain and Officers on the appearance of the vessel.

Captain Walker replied, and said that, on behalf of the officers of the ship and himself, he thanked Mr Ryrie for the kind manner he had proposed, and for the hearty manner in which the gentlemen present had responded. He then spoke of the Nigata Maru (late Behar) and the renovation she had undergone, and claimed that, except her commander, she was now a better ship than ever the Behar had been (laughter, applause, and cries of "No, no" as to the commander's exception). All that he asked for was a fair and impartial criticism, and he assured them that nothing would be left undone on the part of the captain, agents, and other officers of the Company to give satisfaction—which they had every facility for doing, i.e. of carrying on a trade between Hongkong and Japan. That was and would be their ambition. He then spoke of the Company and its chief (Mr Iwasaki Yataro), the ambition and object of whom for over ten years had been to extend the commercial influence of Japan. The Company had been prominently before the world since 1875, when the M. B. Co. commenced to run steamers to Shanghai. The Pacific Mail showed light, and had to give in (applause). All they now wanted was a fair share, and not a monopoly. He hoped they would give the Company their sympathy; and he could assure them that he and his Company would endeavour, as far as any one could do, to give them entire satisfaction. (Applause).

Police Intelligence.

(Before C. V. Creagh, Esq.) Thursday, Nov. 13.

DISOBEDIENCE OF ORDERS.

Li Aman, 23, and Li Achoy, 24, chair coolies, appeared on a summons charging them with refusing to obey the lawful and reasonable order of Mrs. Louisa Scott, their employer, residing at Wanchai.

Mrs. Scott, stated that the defendants were in her employ as chair coolies. Their duties were to assist in the house and carry complainant's chair. The baby was ill yesterday, and she wished to send in to town about it, and as she was unable to go herself her mother undertook to do so; on being told to take witness' mother the defendants distinctly declined to carry the chair. Prisoners had not been out on their morning, nor had they any out-door work the previous day.

Defendants said they were a little slow in getting the chair, but denied having refused.

His Worship imposed a fine of $3, in default, ten days' imprisonment.

A ROGUE AND VAGABOND.

Wong Ahbing, 31, a coolie, was charged with being in Gilman Street at 4.30 this morning without a light or pass, and with being a rogue and vagabond.

District Watchman, No. 29, Lo Ahing, proved finding the defendant in Gilman Street at 4.30 this morning. He was looking into an open fanlight, and had in his hand a book such as is used by thieves for abstracting clothes through windows. Defendant had neither light nor pass.

The prisoner denied having a book in his possession. He said he had had a quarrel with the watchman, and this was a false charge trumped up in consequence. Defendant admitted being in gaol twice last year, once for four weeks on a similar charge, and once for ten days for larceny. The prisoner was fined $25, in default, three months' imprisonment with hard labor.

ALLEGED LARCENY.

The case in which Loong Ahn, a broker, was charged with the larceny of a bundle of clothing and two spoons was again before the Court to-day.

Lung Ahn was also placed at the bar. Chan Am, for whom a subpoena had been issued, now appeared, and stated that he was an accountant in the Shang-ki opium shop. He knew the first defendant by his coming to the shop to smoke, but did not know the second defendant. Witness claimed the jacket produced as his. He knew it by certain repairs which had been done to it. The jacket was hanging up in the shop while first defendant was there. Witness had occasion to go out for a few minutes, and on his return both the first defendant and the jacket were gone. He was informed by a man in the shop that first defendant had borrowed the jacket.

The second prisoner said he does not know the first defendant. He went to dinner at the Tang Yik shop at 4 p.m., and remained there for the rest of the evening. Loong Ahing corroborated the last witness as to how he spent the evening. His Worship dismissed the case.

CORRESPONDENCE.

THE DEPORTATION DISCUSSION.
To the Editor of the "CHINA MAIL." 13th November.

Sir,—The discussion on Thursday last in the Legislative Council, on the deportation papers which the Governor laid on the table on the 29th May, has caused an unusual amount of comment, and I think it may tend to prevent misconceptions if I, as the unofficial member of Council who reintroduced the subject, briefly state how I view the question.

It should be borne in mind that these papers were moved for so long ago as 21st December 1878, when the Governor promised to have them printed. Nothing was done however in the way of making them known until the 29th May last, when they were laid on the Council table. His Excellency entering into a long explanation of his action with regard to deportation and stating that every man had been deported whose case was considered by the Executive Council to require deportation and whose sentence was legal according to the opinion of the Attorney General. His Excellency again promised to have the documents printed, but said that, in the meantime, members might see them. They embraced correspondence between the Governor and the Supreme Court, the Magistrates and the Police Department, and they have not even now been printed, but I have had an opportunity of perusing them, and was much struck with the manner in which criminal after criminal, although recommended by the Magistrates for deportation, and whose deportation was approved of by the Executive Council, including the Attorney General, was let loose in the Colony, unconditionally liberated, notwithstanding long records of crime, instead of being remitted back to the Magistrates to be dealt with as a suspicious character. Throughout the papers there is evidence of an extreme tenderness for criminals, declared by the Magistrates to be rogues and vagabonds and persons dangerous to the peace and good order of the Colony. Previously to the 29th June, 1878, the stereotyped phrase seems to have been "Let the prisoner be discharged," but, crime having greatly increased and probably because the great public demonstration against the Governor's policy of tenderness for criminals, which took place a few months later, was already casting before it the shadow of the great and salutary change it was destined to effect, on that date the laws of the Colony for the protection of life and property, too long disregarded, were set in motion, but, as is known, not in time to prevent the Winklo Street raid, with its attendant loss of life and property. I considered that the papers disclosed grave discrepancies between the facts they revealed and the Governor's statement, which neither in the letter nor in the spirit could be reconciled with the evidence, and my object in bringing the subject before the Council, where the statement had been made, was to obtain explanations and information to enable me to correct the conclusion at which I had arrived, if it was wrong. As an unofficial member I have felt that I had a duty towards the public to perform that could not be met by taking the easy and agreeable course of acquiescing in everything and leaving matters alone, but I have never allowed, in calling attention to questions, the smallest degree of personal feeling to be shown. My motives have been public, not personal, but on Thursday last I was otherwise met and regretted it, while certainly the Governor did not address himself to a plain explanation of the apparent discrepancies to which I called attention, but went into other matters only very distantly, if at all, connected with the subject. Still it was, as I mentioned, satisfactory to me that I had brought on the discussion, and the statement made by His Excellency, regarding certain irregularities in warrants and illegalities in punishments, had the effect of removing, to a certain extent, the impression that he had acted recklessly and with a disregard for life and property, in unconditionally liberating criminals of the worst class, against the advice of the Executive Council. I expressed my belief that His Excellency's statement would have a similar effect on the public mind and correct the greater part of the feeling against his administration, and I felt that the announcement with regard to the strengthening of the Police force in this direction, I earnestly wished that it might be so for the strong condemnation of the policy that was pursued prevents that confidence which it is so desirable should exist between the Head of the Executive and the law-abiding residents of all nationalities in the Colony. It has been stated that I expressed my feeling of satisfaction too strongly and so far did not represent the community and, judging from the amount of feeling that has been evoked and also from a perusal of the report of His Excellency's speech, I do see reason to think there was much said which was unsatisfactory and which a practised speaker would have noticed. I am not ready in such matters, and hence no allusion to them by me; but was it after all necessary to remark on the want of taste shown by the Governor in referring, as is his habit, to the policy and what he represents as the illegalities of his predecessors, or on the manner in which he stigmatised the acts of former officers of the Government, and the want of fairness shown in omitting to mention that Mr. Tomlin, in what he did as Superintendent of the Gaol, however wrong the act, had an Executive order to show as his authority? It was unsatisfactory, too, to hear His Excellency reflect on the honour of the most useful and trustworthy body of men, who fill so many important positions in the Colony, the Portuguese clerks, who are so largely employed both in the public departments of the Government and by the mercantile community.

As regards Mr. Lowcock's examination of the deportation papers, it was not in any way necessary that he should reply to the "little semi-official letter." That interesting little epistle simply mentioned, what doubtless it was gratifying to Mr. Lowcock to hear, viz. that the interview had been a satisfactory one to the Governor, and only the Governor could pronounce that it had been pleasant to His Excellency. It would have been another matter had Mr. Hennessy's minute been enclosed, for that would have at once challenged and no doubt, resisted suitable notice. Mr. Low-cock's letter, which I read in Council, was in reply to a wanton statement and remains unanswered. It is unwelcome.

Japan.

The Kinji Horon publishes some comments of Itagaki's on the difficulty with China over the Loochoo islands, and credits the ex-sangi with saying that Japan is not equal to China in strength; and that if war is unavoidable it will be an absolute necessity for Japan to be the first on the move and invade China, as a Chinese army on Japanese soil would be found extremely inconvenient and difficult to deal with.

From the first appearance of cholera to the 15th October the returns show that 158,784 persons were attacked; 90,027 died and the remainder recovered.

In political circles there is no movement of public importance. It is reported that the Chinese government have addressed a cordial note to the Tokio cabinet upon the questions which have lately arisen between the two countries, and it is confidently asserted that all difficulties have been solved and a good understanding is the result.

The report of the Tokio Chamber of Commerce upon treaty revision, has, we hear from trustworthy Japanese sources, given rise to considerable dissatisfaction because it fails to convey to the Imperial Government a correct impression of the burdens imposed upon trade by the existing monopolies which accord a direct benefit to the principal members of the Chamber. Their illiberal estimate of the position of the coast trade is recognized as most injurious, and if the Government resolve to carry out the Chamber's recommendation in this respect it is felt that the extension of trade beyond its present narrow limits is impossible. All the negotiations for treaty revision will now be conducted by his Excellency Inouye Kaworu, whose commercial knowledge will enable him, it is hoped, to detect and disregard the interested motives that actuated the members of the Tokio Chamber of Commerce in their report. The entire merchant navy of Japan, inclusive of the Government company, possesses a carrying capacity of less than 70,000 tons, which the Chamber declares to be amply sufficient to carry on the coast service of a country having the enormous seaboard of Japan.

On the 8th instant his Imperial Majesty the Mikado attained the twenty-seventh year of his age. The day was kept as a general holiday in Tokio and Yokohama.

THE SEASON IN SIAM.

The rains of the season have seemingly come to a close. Northerly breezes are acquiring sway. The north-east monsoon will soon assert its supremacy and carry away to the great ocean-reservoir the superabundant waters which now overflow the banks of the river with each rising tide. The foundations have not been prejudicial to the paddy crops of this season. Reports from nearly all rice growing districts are very favourable. Grain is abundant and if the demand abroad is not very pressing, the people here may expect to purchase their paddy and their rice at comparatively moderate rates. Plantains, bananas, oranges, pumplemons and area nuts are much cheaper this year than they have been for years past. Fresh platu of excellent quality are abundant and cheap. Thus far the poor people of the country may rejoice at the favourable prospects before them that there will be food in abundance.—Siam Weekly Advertiser, Oct. 25th.

In a private letter recently received in Calcutta from an Anglo-Indian, now in Australia, the writer expresses his regret that Indian traders have not realised what a splendid field is open to them in the colonies. He says:—"There is a peculiarity about the merchants here, viz. they don't like to go out of a beaten track. They have always (for instance) had tea from China, and continue to get it thence, although it is vile stuff. I have not had a cup of good tea since I have been here. They know that India can supply better tea than the refuse from China, which comes here, but they won't get it, because they have never got it. But if any firm in Calcutta were to send out a few thousand pounds, they would soon be convinced that it was appreciated here, and would prefer obtaining at least a portion of their stock to Australia. The wretched stuff that comes from China sells here (wholesale) at 1s. 9d. to 2s. 6d. per lb., after paying duty at 9d. per lb. Coffee is 3s. 6d. per lb., and if disposed of in lots of 1 and 2 maunds, would realise more, as the grocers sell it roasted and ground, which means an extensive admixture of chicory or something worse."
